Englishman's Fine Furnishings manufacture European-style antique reproduction furniture and accessories. The company introduced two new product display areas at the High Point Spring Market in collaboration with Halo Styles, to feature Englishman's Fine Furnishings' Terracotta and Bronze Collections.

Terracotta, made of baked clay, is one of the oldest materials used in pottery, sculpture and vases and urns. It's use in outdoor spaces for planters and other accents also goes back a long way. The material and the color both look great in a garden, yard or patio.

To achieve a classic English garden, Englishman's Fine Furnishings has created plaques, planters, urns, as well as bird baths, and water features. It is weatherproof, and thus practical for exterior use.

The terracotta collection is meticulous in detail, and pieces range from Gothic bird baths and fountains in the shapes of Victorian ladies to planters and urns with dramatic lids and handles.

Englishman's Fine Furniture ships furniture to consumers and designers from all across the country, and sells to overseas clients as well. The company is based in Atlanta, with a showroom that is open to the public in Smyrna. A designer showroom is located at the AmericasMart downtown.

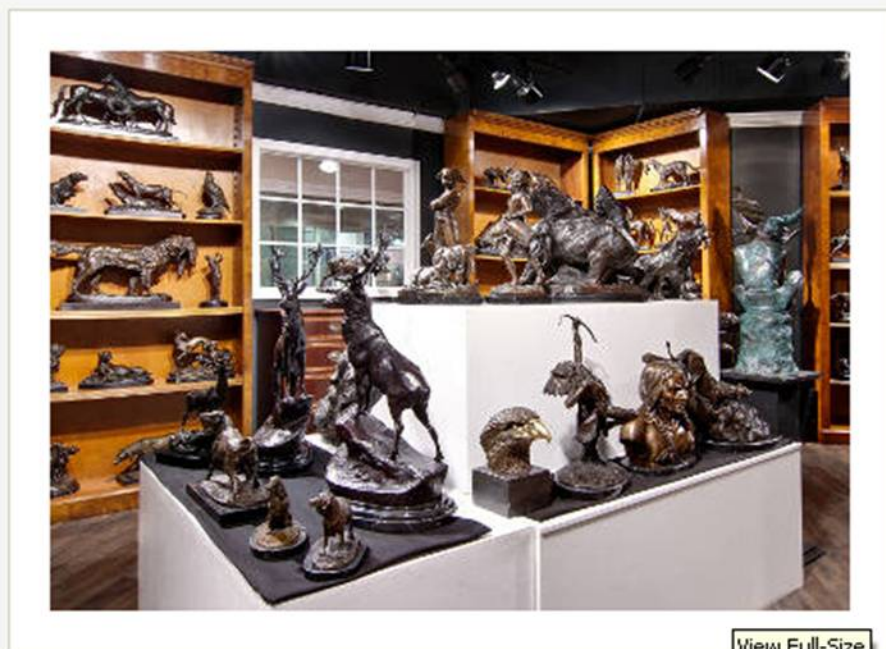

Standard furniture is always available, however the father-daughter design team and their staff can customize nearly any piece of furniture upon request. Along with handcrafted traditional pieces, English and French antique pieces are also available.

Englishman's Fine Furnishings' Terracotta Collection will be displayed in a luxurious outdoor garden setting alongside Halo Styles' outdoor furnishings at High Point.

The Bronze Collection

The Bronze Collection from Englishman's Fine Furnishings contains tabletop bronze statues mounted on marble bases for use as home décor accents.

There is a good variety of designs and styles to choose from, and subjects range from figurines to dogs, horses, stags, bears, and other animals. A strategically placed piece can easily enliven a space.
